

PARTY PARTY

We hereby declare the crisis officially over: the Italian Flexform has opened a mono brand store in Amsterdam Zuidas.

That Pietro Galimberti, the impish designer of the brand, attended the opening was a big surprise. Tasks are strictly defined within this family business.

Naturally, Guiliano Galimberti officially opened the store.

Driving forces behind the opening of the new Flexform store are the brothers Van der Horst of the eponymous Co van der Horst in Amstelveen

Flexform's very tall and above all very friendly Dutch agent Johan Beentjes was also present, as was his wife Femke Derks (Fem Home).

Charming as ever: the Italian Elisa Velluto of the Italian Flexform.

IMM Cologne: There were many familiar faces and even more proud fathers and founding fathers of WOTH present at the launch of our third issue in Cologne.

A| Approvingly, Arco's table maker Willem van Ast examines the interview with his son Jorre. 'Was it alright to tell them about Apple?'

A| Jan te Lintelo is very happy with the new issue, as are Jitze Baarsma (e15) and his dad. L| Paul van den Berg (Montis) congratulates WOTH. Mary is surrounded by the men of Gervasoni, Zeitraum and Flos.

